THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

BY W. A. HEMPHILL & CO. | ATLANTA, GEORGIA, MONDAY, MAY 1, 1871. | VOLUME III---NUMBER 266

Evening Edition.

MONDAY, MAY 1, 1871.

☞ Our Washington correspondent has given our readers an unusually interesting series of letters. His activity in hunting up everything of interest to Georgia has been remarkable. And many incidents graphically related by him of our Georgia folks have been widely copied in the State, and in the majority of cases without credit. This is wrong. We care nothing about it as far as this paper is concerned, but our correspondent is a professional journalist of ability and note, and should have credit for his labors.

For instance, in one of his recent letters he gave an interesting incident about General DuBose occupying the Speaker's chair. The Augusta Chronicle published the matter without credit, and it is now running the rounds of the State press accredited to that paper.

This is one instance.

Radical Blasphemy.

It is a common trick of the Radicals to ascribe fortunate events for their party to the favor of Providence. But they are by no means confined to one mode of blasphemy. The Winans imbroglio has furnished a fresh opportunity for their favorite style of argument. The Ogdensburg (N. Y.) Journal, (Rad.) says:

"Judas Iscariot Rendered Respectable.—The perfidy of Orange S. Winans, of Chautauqua county, in walking over to the Democratic party, and announcing his intention of hereafter voting with that organization, renders the memory of Judas Iscariot respectable. Judas only took thirty pieces of silver for kissing the Saviour so that he might be taken, but Winans has betrayed every Republican in the State.

City and Suburban.

☞ Hon. Mark A. Cooper has been elected President of the Atlanta and Blue Ridge Railroad.

☞ The first services were held in the new Baptist Church at Decatur yesterday. Rev. W. H. Strickland, the pastor, preached an able sermon.

Library Association.—The Directors are notified (by authority of M. H. Sisson, President) that the regular meeting of the Board will occur to-morrow (Tuesday) night, instead of this evening.

The Annual Parade of the Atlanta Fire Department.—This morning has been a gala day with our firemen. The several companies, after marching through our principal streets, preceded by a fine band of music, stopped in front of the State House.

Hook and Ladder, No. 1, under command of Capt. R. J. Lowry, had out forty men. The truck was handsomely decorated. We noticed out with them little W. M. Lowry, Jr., son of Capt. Lowry, and Little Eula Maddox, daughter of Col. R. F. Maddox.

Atlanta No. 1, under Major John H. Mecaslin, had out sixty-two men. The steamer, superbly decorated, was drawn by four horses.

The steamer of the Oglethorpe Fire Company, of Savannah, was drawn by two horses. The Oglethorpes are a fine body of men. Only a delegation of twenty-five came up.

Mechanic No. 2 had out fifty-five men. The steamer was drawn by two handsome black horses.

Tallulah No. 3 looked well. She had out only eighty-eight men, dressed in opera bouffe jackets. The hand engine was drawn by two horses, while the steamer was drawn by four spirited horses driven in "the highest style of the art," by Capt T. B. Archer.

Of the races, and playing of the steamers, and the dinner, we defer an account until morning.

No. 1 served up a fine lunch at her engine house, while a banner floated out to the breeze across the street, "To all firemen, a hearty welcome."

The sidewalks were densely thronged from Broad street to the Post-office, while every window and piazza on both sides of the street overlooking the scene of contest, were filled with lookers on. The fair sex were out in full force.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

SUNDAY'S DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

Washington, April 30.—Corcoran's physicians think his condition more hopeful.

Mr. Mareschal leaves here on the 6th of May to assume the portfolio of foreign affairs. It is thought at the Mexican Legation that Romero will return.

The Government will sell $2,000,000 of gold each Thursday, and buy $2,000,000 of bonds each Wednesday during May. The transactions aggregating $10,000,000 of bonds and $8,000,000 of gold.

LOUISIANA.

New Orleans, April 30.—The Times, describing a visit to Bonnet Carre crevasse says within about five miles of the crevasse we come upon what was apparently a valuable plantation, now covered with water, about ten feet in depth. The sugar house, negro quarters and dwelling house are all standing midst water. It presented a desolate picture saddening to behold. At Bonnet Carre a huge volume of water rushes through the gap, which is about twelve hundred feet wide, foaming and seething; while the angry roar, impresses a sense of fear upon the listener. Near the break is a small collection of houses, and back of them plantations; and, farther removed, is a line of forests through all of which the flood pours with resistless force. From the village all the light of life has fled. Deserted houses with open doors tell too truly the painful story. It needs no second view to convince the beholder that no mortal power can arrest the flood, but a large force is employed to prevent further damage. On the levee, in some places, the water is twelve feet deep, reaching beyond the second story of many houses.

Nothing further heard from Bonnet Carre up to this P. M.

ILLINOIS.

Chicago, April 30.—Trudale, late Secretary of State of Illinois, was murdered early this morning, while on his way to the railroad depot at Springfield. No clue to the murderer.

MISSOURI.

Holden, April 30.—A printer in the Enterprise office shot himself and wife. The cause is attributed to drink.

NEW YORK.

New York, April 30.—The cotton movement shows a continued falling off in receipts, and the total this week is the smallest since early in the present cotton year. The exports, on the other hand, keep up well, and are slightly in excess of last week, while compared with the corresponding week last year are more than double. Receipts at all ports 56,685 bales, against 63,042 last week, 64,156 the previous week, and 67,543 three weeks since; total receipts since September 3,570,759 bales, against 2,579,497 the corresponding week the previous year. Exports from all ports 81,822 bales, against 35,344 the same week last year; total exports for the expired portion of the cotton year 2,618,091 bales, against 1,755,978 for the same time last year. Stock at all ports 453,718 bales, against 346,223 for the same time last year; stock at interior towns 57,274 bales, against 76,104 last year; stock in Liverpool 951,000 bales, against 563,000 last year. American cotton afloat for Great Britain 267,000 bales, against 163,000 last year; Indian cotton afloat for Europe 236,000 bales, against 175,000 last year.

Planting has now been completed, or nearly so, in several States, and the advices from the South generally state that less cotton and more grain have been planted.

The crevasse in the Mississippi levees has done much damage, and checked the cotton movement at New Orleans.

At the cotton exchange, the April settlements were continued during the week, and resulted in a fierce contest between the Bulls and Bears. The Bulls gave a sharp twist to the market, and at one time the price of low middlings was run up to 15 cents for settlement of contracts, while the price of spot cotton was only 14½ cents; which made a difference between that grade and low middlings equal to 1½ cents. This is the same difference that existed when the final settlements were made in the March contracts. But as the season advances the difference between the low and higher grades of cotton generally widens, so that the difference in reality was not so great as seemed. The sharp rise in low middlings for April, engineered by the Bulls for the purpose of settling contracts, exasperated bears, and induced large purchases of spot cotton, to deliver on contracts. As many parties pursued this course, instead of merely settling their contracts by paying the difference asked by the bulls, telegraphs were sent South, and cotton was purchased freely thereby. The bears' steamers arriving during the week from Southern ports, were heavily laden with cotton, which was turned over into Hanover Square or delivered at different warehouses.

During the storm of Thursday and Friday, cotton was piled up in Hanover Square almost mountain high, and the warehouses were completely blocked up by the receipt and delivery of cotton.

There was very little dissatisfaction expressed with the classification of cotton this time, and the whole affair is looked on as a square fight between the bulls and bears. The bulls have certainly twisted the bears, but the bears have had their revenge in loading up the bulls heavily with real cotton, which will force them to bull the market in May, in order to sell out o tsome small speculators and brokers, who did not possess the requisite capital to enter the market and buy cotton, to deliver on their contracts, were forced to fail when called on to settle on the extreme high basis of the bulls.

FRANCE.

Paris, April 30.—A Masonic procession half a mile long passed through the streets to-day, and planted their banners on the ramparts under fire. All the lodges of the order in Paris were represented. Several Masons were wounded while on the walls.

The cannonading was unusually violent yesterday.

Twelve thousand Versaillists occupy Gennevilliers.

The Nationals are preparing to abandon the Southern forts.

Rumors of reverses to the Nationals in other quarters are current.

Fort Issy has not been abandoned.

Versailles, April 30—Park Castle and the Cemetery of Issy were carried last night by the Government forces, eight cannon, a quantity of ammunition and 100 prisoners fell into their hands. The advance is now within 200 metres of Fort Issy, whose capture is momentarily expected.

Thiers granted an interview to the delegates from the Masons of Paris, who arrived here last night, he told them that the Government desired to see an end of the civil war, but France could not capitulate in the presence of an armed insurrection, and referred them to the Commune for the restoration of order within the city, of which it had usurped control.

Latest—The loyalist successes at Fort Issy were brilliant, the garrison abandoned the fort at daylight this (Sunday) morning. Its commandant is in Paris.

MONDAY'S NOON DISPATCHES

WASHINGTON.

Washington, May 1.—Counsellor E. S. Worthington, of Kentucky, who was prominent in the military courts of the Confederacy, is dead.

NEW YORK.

New York, May 1.—The American Tontine Life Insurance Company goes into involuntary liquidation by a vote of its Directors.

FRANCE.

Versailles, April 30.—It is stated that Fort Issy was occupied by the Versailists.

The affair at Maleveaux was brilliant for the Versaillist. Three hundred prisoners were taken, many were bayonetted.

Versailles, May 1.—Negotiations are proceeding for the surrender of Issy.

The elections at Lille resulted in the success of the Republicans.

Issy has displayed a flag of truce.

There was a disturbance at Lyons on Sunday by the friends of Paris. The Commune was easily quelled.

Paris, April 30, evening.—A grand scene was witnessed at the Champ Elysees yesterday upon the departure of the Free Masons to visit Thiers. A vast crowd collected, when a fire was subsequently opened upon them, scattering the people wildly. The Free Masons advanced and planted 120 flags on the ramparts—a flag for each lodge.

They reached Versailles at 6 o'clock, with flags bearing the legend "Aimons nous les uns les outres." They were blindfolded and sent back, with the exception of the President and two delegates. Their mission was unsuccessful.

At 10 o'clock this morning Dombrowski warned the Versailists that hostilities might commence hourly. Forty thousand men are now ready for fighting in Champs Elysees.

Paris, May 1.—Clussert was dismissed by the Commune. Rassel succeeds him.

It is stated that Clussert was arrested by the Executive with approval of the Commune.

Durassier succeeds Akalowits, who is wounded.

ENGLAND.

London, May 1.—Sheridan, Forsythe and Mrs. Lincoln departed on steamship Russia.

It is reported from Paris that the sisters of archbishop Darboy have been arrested.

It is stated that the German troops in France have been notified that they will remain two years.

BUTLER.

AN ACCOUNT OF SOME OF HIS JOBS.

Butler jobs, as explained by a Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, have been as marvelous since the conclusion of peace as they were during the war. He pocketed thousands by selling his vote and influence in certain causes; but this is the mere salt in the porridge. He made a cool hundred thousand on the Boston post-office. So soon as it was resolved to build a post-office building, he privately secured an interest in the quarry and then the stone to one of his strikers. But that, also, was a comparatively small operation.

In the [illegible] 1865 Congress resolved to [illegible] a national system for the benefit of "disabled soldiers," under which Butler proved himself very far from "a disabled soldier." Under this bill Butler procured his own election as President and Treasurer, and secured possession of funds to the amount of four million six hundred and eighty-four thousand dollars. Of that amount he expended only $660,000, and a good part of the money, upon his own showing, remained charged to his private account in banks in Lowell and New York, for a long time; and to this day only $1,332,000 have been invested in lands and buildings—leaving more than two millions to be charged to the current expenses of the old soldiers. Farnsworth alleges that during the past five years Butler had at least $150,000 public money in his possession all the time. Such are the stories told on Butler by the leading Republican organ of the West; and yet Butler is the leading politician of Grant's party.

Bamboozle.

The art of bamboozle is very important to trading politicians—and particularly to the kind called five-thousand dollar-men. One of the ways is for both Houses of a K. K. Congress to have an understanding that they shall seem to favor some measure which the people demand, and yet kill it off, if it would hurt the rings about Congress; of which rings there are many. And then the way not to do it is for one House to pass a bill by a large majority, with the understanding that the other House is to let it drop.

For instance:

The House passed a bill to abolish the frankage pillage; the Senate let it drop.

The House passed a bill to abolish the duty on coal and on salt.

The Senate have no time to attend to it; they must do Sherman's K. K. Bill.

The House is doing a big thing on Amnesty 'so-called'—and have rushed a bill through which can be easily killed off in the Senate by an adjournment till December next.

The five-thousand-dollar-men have decided that these are good Bamboozles for next election.—Urbana Union.

☞ Ex-President Johnson has consented to deliver an address before the mechanics of East Tennessee on the subject of mechanical skill and industry during the Industrial Exposition, which opens at the Fair Ground at Knoxville on the 27th of May. There is no man in the country better qualified to make an interesting and instructive address on this subject, and the ex-President's effort on the occasion will attract much attention.

☞ Thackery's daughter, who still writes under her maiden name, is the wife of Mr. Leslie Stephens, formerly President of the Alpine Club, and the present editor of the Cornhill Magazine.

James M. Mason.

This distinguished Virginian, just dead, was born on Analoston Island, Fairfax county, Virginia, November 3, 1798, graduated at the University of Pennsylvania in 1818, studied law at William and Mary College, obtained license to practice in 1820. In 1826, he was elected to the House of Delegates, and twice re-elected. He was Representative in Congress from 1837 to 1839. In 1847, he was elected a Senator in Congress, in place of Senator Pennypacker, and re-elected in 1849, in which position he continued until 1861, having for several sessions been Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations. He took part in the Rebellion in 1861, went to England as Minister of the Rebel Government, was captured by the San Jacinto, imprisoned in Fort Warren, and after his release, took up his residence in Europe. He was expelled from the Senate in July, 1861.

The Atlanta and Savannah Railroad.

Whatever increases the population of Atlanta necessarily enhances the value of real estate all over the city. Houses or stores without occupants would not be worth having. Multiply the number of those who wish either to purchase or rent, and prices of property for sale and rent, of tenements and stores to let, rise proportionately.

Real estate in Atlanta derives its whole value from railroads. Destroy the railroads centering here, and one year's taxes would amount to more than the whole real estate of the city would bring at auction. These facts are patent to everybody.

What is the interest of property-holders, when a new railroad, that will add greatly to population and business, is proposed? Ought they not by all means to encourage it? Owners of realty here have not the surplus capital to invest in railroad enterprises. Some other means of helping them must be adopted.

A subscription in the bonds of the city is the best possible means of extending the necessary aid. These bonds can be exchanged for stock in the roads to be built, and the officers of the roads can use them in part payment to contractors, and thus they serve as money to the companies accepting them for stock.

These bonds draw interest it is true, but not more than a fair dividend with stock received for the bonds, if the road is a good one. Thus the interest is paid by the dividends, and ultimately the stock may be sold to pay off the bonds entirely. The result is the railroad is secured, population is multiplied, business is increased and property is rendered much more valuable, almost without expense or loss. The interest on the bonds before the road begins to run is what the road really costs.

Let the property-holders remember these things next Tuesday, when the proposition to subscribe for stock in the Atlanta and Savannah Railroad, as a splendid road for Atlanta, is to be voted on.

WESTERN AND ATLANTIC RAILROAD CO., PRESIDENT'S OFFICE, ATLANTA, GA., April 29, 1871.

Dr. N. L. Angier, Treasurer—DEAR SIR: I send you by the Treasurer of this Company Twenty-five Thousand Dollars in cash, the rental due the State for this month by the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company. I desire the usual receipt from the Comptroller-General for the amount.

COMPTROLLER-GENERAL'S OFFICE, ATLANT GA., April 29, 1871.

Received of W. C. Morril, Treasurer Western and Atlantic Railroad Company, the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, Rent of Western and Atlantic Railroad Company, April, 1871, as per certificate No. 63, of N. L. Angier, Treasurer. MADISON, BELL, Comptroller-General.

A Musical Treat.

One evening last week, the writer found himself inclosed by a combination of surroundings, among the happiest possible to create an Eden on earth, namely, woman, music and flowers. In Col. Gates' parlor, tastefully decorated with beautiful and fragrant flowers, was gathered a small party of ladies and gentlemen to enjoy a private musical soiree by the scholars of his daughter, Mrs. Eckford. These were fifteen or twenty in number, looking as bright and fresh as the flowers clustering in profusion around. Ah, what is more lovely and attractive than roseate young girlhood, with countenance brimfull of the joys and of the quick telltale lights and shadows of young life. Whose heart does not go out to the little girls! We love them. We love them better than any thing else in the world—except—except—perhaps, the larger ones.

A duet, from Lucia de Lammermoor, by the two little daughters of Major Whitner, was a most creditable performance, considering their ages, only about nine and eleven.

They also sang a duet, in which their tiny voices trembled out like the first warblings of a young songster of the wild-wood.

Miss Hettie R. gave us Schuloff's grand waltz, No. 2. Professor Hunter's little daughter, only nine years of age, played a polka very nicely. Miss Annie B. treated us to Californienne Mazurka, and Ennora waltz came from Miss Ellie R.

Of course more or less mistakes were committed by all, as perfection could not reasonably be expected of learners, but a mistake made by the latter, who is but a recent beginner, was so bravely and admirably recovered from as to attract marked attention and win warm congratulations. Thus comes success in every department of life—let mistakes and errors but serve to stimulate more splendid effort. The great of the world are they who make of misfortune and failure the very step-stone of success. Alas! that so few have learned this transcendant lesson.

There were several duets, instrumental and vocal. They are always acceptable. They are thrilling and enthusing.

There were several songs, besides well-executed instrumental pieces, from Misses Eliza W., Sallie O. K., and Annie I. The first manifested much cultivation; the second displayed a voice well attuned and sweetly modulated; and the last has a voice of which the writer will not speak for fear of partiality, but only remark that it is one of which her friends are warmly and justly proud. And almost her only fault will certainly be remedied by time.

A number of these scolars have been taking lessons but a short time, and the degree of proficiency attained is complimentary to Mrs Eckford. But this lady is not only a skilfull performer, but also a composer of no ordinary talent.

All passed a most delightful evening—and none more so than the writer, in the enjoyment of a double pleasure—good music and the company of friends. C.

Special Correspondence.

KINGSTON—ROMAN RECEPTION—EXCURSION, LECTURE AND SUPPER—BELLES, NEWSPAPERS AND SECRETS—A JOLLY TIME.

With quite a party of gentlemen and a few ladies, as the sun kissed the tree tops Friday morning, and then leaped forward into the clear sky, we went aboard of the Western and Atlantic train, en route to Rome, to attend the festivities of the Rome Library and Historical Association. Soon we were outside of the city snuffing the country air, loaded with the fragrance of wild flowers and the freshness gathered from the leaves of the woods.

There was nothing of interest to write of on the road.

KINGSTON.

At this place we entered the cars for Rome and were met by Mr. Milton, of the Rome Commercial, and the genial Dr. E. Newton, who had come down to receive us. The ride was pleasant up this road, winding along the river bank. This stream, in its freedom may dance pleasantly just now, under the roots of trees and around the base of hills, but the day must come when its joyous laugh will be hushed, and its waters chained to the big wheel that will throw the shuttle and will spin.

RECEPTION.

Upon arriving at Rome, we were cordially grasped by the hand by Henry Grady, the young and talented editor of the Commercial. He had several carriages awaiting us; soon the party were all comfortably disposed of, and gaily dashed up to the excellent rooms of the Commercial. There we were pleasantly surprised at finding a table loaded, not with dusty papers or dry congressional documents, but cake of various kinds, and in the greatest profusion; and bottles of charming sherry, ambrosial champaignes, the oily old "Q." They were all keeping cool, and retaining their tempers. None of these things soured from neglect during the visit.

STEAMER ETOWAH.

Again we re-entered the carriages, and were gaily transported to the above steamboat, Captain Elliott bore a pleasant face, the river was in fine order, the machinery all right, the music soft on the water, and the Etowah smoothly glided down stream some fourteen miles.

On board we met with Captain Scott, Senator Burns, Major Smith, "Bill Arp;" Whitman, of the North Georgia Times, Messrs. Sawyer, Barnett, George McGuire, Col. Hardee; the efficient Mayor H. A. Smith, Dr. Hoyt, Dr. Newton, Mr. H. H. Smith, Captain Austin, Chief of the FireDepartment, and various other genial and intelligent gentlemen.

NEWSPAPERS.

During the trip two spicy little sheets, "The Rome Commercial, Jr.," and "The Rome Courier," were issued on the boat.

ON BOARD.

A good band of music was on the steamer; a sufficent supply of ices and strawberries, sandwitches, &c. There were a number of handsome matrons and pretty maidens, and if there were any shady spots on the boat during the trip, bright eyes soon lent to them sunshine.

SECRETS.

Our young acquaintances at Rome must not suppose that we pencilled down all we heard and saw on the trip. The secret of the bright-eyed Paul anxiously searching for his missing Virginia, is safe. We must, in our sleeve, enjoy the laugh at the young lady (with the grey sash) whose timidity, in the presence of her sweetheart, on the aft part of the boiler deck, was so ephemeral. And the young lady with the green shambray dress, with the dainty pockets, if she did pass a note to a youth, and inspired his mind with rosy fancies, we will not betray her. The couple that sat out on the capstan and gazed upon the pleasant farms of Colonel Pennington and Shorter, seemed to be in earnest, for we imagined that they were realizing the dream of Melnotte of a "Castle lifting its walls from out a bower of fragrant foliage, musical with birds whose songs should syllable their names." But we will keep the secrets we discovered.

THE DANCE.

There were several dances during the ride down the river. Just as pretty feet twinkled over the boiler deck of the Etowah, just as bright eyes dazzled its machinery, just as pretty faces reflected from the waters, just as symmetrical forms were shadowed upon the banks of the stream, and as musical voices echoed in the foliage of the trees as can be seen or heard anywhere.

BELLES.

On the boat were many bewitching and fascinating ladies. Atlanta had a small but choice delegation. The Misses U., Miss J. E., Miss S. V., Miss H. S., Miss H. McK., Mrs. H. S., Miss P. N., Miss O. M., Miss S. J. and Miss R., ably represented Rome; and Miss D., of White Plains, had many admirers. Impartiality is our distinction. Consequently we humbly request the belle of the afternoon to forgive us for leaving her name unrecorded, and to say to her to rest content with the adulation received on the boat.

THE RETURN—MYRTLE HILL AND RIDE.

Just think of a four hours' steamboat ride on a river. And then champagne, ice cream, strawberries, music and dancing. It beats Stone Mountain higher than a kite.

Upon reaching the wharf, the Atlanta party were again kindly taken in charge by the Messrs. Grady and Dr. Newton, and in carriages visited Myrtle Hill Cemetery. Want of space prevents a notice of this spot and the scenery. The beautiful city of Rome is spread at your feet; the river dashes along the base of the hill; pretty valleys, with their wheat and clover fields, are spread before you, dotted with farm houses and barns; forests, unprofaned by an axe, are at this time a "wearing of the green," and here and there a mountain peak shines out in the departing sunlight.

The ride over the city was delightful, and we were surprised and gratified at seeing so many and such charming residences.

COLEMAN'S HOTEL.

Mr. Grady being fully aware that if anything can touch an emotional nature, create good humor, and inspire the kindliest feelings, it is generous and grateful fare, drove up to the above house, and regaled the party with a supper that removed any and every ailment under which any of the party may have labored, and surely touched the emotional nature of each one present.

THE LECTURE.

Again seated in carriages, we were speedily conveyed to the City Hall. Surrounded by a large, brilliant and intelligent audience, we were deeply interested from the beginning to the close, in the logic that adorned, the rhetoric that graced, and the patriotism that pervaded the lecture of Rev. Dr. Hicks.

ROME LIBRARY AND HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION.

We were kindly carried through the building owned by the above association. It is gratifying to witness the success of a body of men, which has for an object the promotion of social intercourse and enjoyment, and the cultivation of literary attainments. Financially, and in other respects, the association exists under the happiest auspices. The rooms show a taste and comfort that is pleasant to behold. We wish the association every and a permanent success.

THE BALL.

Again were we conveyed to a scene of merriment. Several rooms of the Library Association were gemmed with nature's loveliest jewels. What tasty toilets—what smiles and glances of animated beauty—what magnificent eyes, wealths of braided hair, graceful dancing; but we pause to look up a brother reporter, who seems magnetized by the brown hair, the sweet intelligent face, the blue dress, and the rose in the pearl necklace of one of Rome's fair daughters.

THE SUPPER.

Rich meats, ragouts, salad, entrements, ices, strawberries, and cakes, fairly loaded down the ten tables prepared for the guests. The members of the Association have discovered Pindar's secret, namely:

"The turnpike road to people's hearts I find Lies through their mouths, or I mistake mankind"

But all were satisfied, and as we lingered, the walls of the room no longer echoed to a call for "chicken salad," or for "ham"—"the grinders had ceased, because they were few."

THE BALL.

In the ball-room, music, beauty and grace soon invited, necessitated, provoked action—we mean, "heel and toe movement." As tripling feet kept time to delicious music, our friends notified us that it was the hour for taking the cars for Kingston. We lingered around the depot, and quietly went into the car, as the soft air bore upon its bosom cherry voices, sweet music, and sounds of feet attuned to gladsome strains.

INDEBTED FOR MUCH PLEASURE.

All contributed to our enjoyment, still we must return thanks to Mr. Henry Grady and Dr. Newton for their courtesies. May the ice of age never gather around Grady's heart, and may growing years fail to chill the genial warmth of his nature.

May the frank and honest face of Dr. Newton never be carved by a care or wrinkle.

As the last stars retired from their watch Saturday morning, passing away into the depths of the heavens and the early rays of the sun lighted upon the Kimball House, we landed under the Passenger Depot—dreaming of strawberries and ice cream; Dr. Hick's lecture on the "Great Virginian;" and of friend Grady's dexterity in removing a "silver top," from a bottle of Heidsick.

OUR BALTIMORE LETTER.

OUR WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT JUNKETING—THE LAST OF CONGRESS—WASHINGTON—BALTIMORE—ITS PRESS, ART MATTERS, MURDERS, AND MINOR TOPICS.

[From our Special Correspondent.]

BALTIMORE, April 26, 1871.

All that has transpired since my last budget from Washington may be summed up in a few words. Departing Congressmen have continued to drop off, one by one, like leaves in autumn, and quiet reigns at the White House, while the President proceeds on his electioneering tour in the West. He is expected back this week, however, and is to give the last State Dinner on the 29th instant. The Joint High Commission will be present. A few days later, Grant will start forth on his usual dead-head excursioning. He has been engaged for part of the season at Long Branch, where he will serve as a standing advertisement to lure unsophisticated people into the toils of the hotel keepers.

The decision of the Supreme Court in the legal tender cases, (reversing the former decision, which declared the legal tender act unconstitutional) took most persons by surprise. The court stood five to four, the Chief Justice and Justices Clifford, Nelson, and Bradley dissenting. It is presumed the question may now be considered as definitely settled.

Under this last decision certain large railway corporations will be relieved from paying the difference between greenbacks and gold coin; but so far as individual indebtedness is concerned, it is thought its effect will be but slight. How far the five Judges were influenced by the attorneys of the railway corporations to be benefitted, and to what extent by the claims of the Radicals, who desire all their shameless and unconstitutional legislation to be legalized, must be left to conjecture. In either case, it is evident that the Supreme Court, the highest legal tribunal in the land, has forfeited all claims to respect, and is no longer entitled to confidence. It has become a packed court in the interest of a party bent on destroying the institutions under which this country became great and prosperous.

The Joint High Commission is believed to have about concluded its labors, though its proceedings are cloaked in the most solemn secrecy, beneath which even the argus-eyed reporters have failed to penetrate. The negotiations have been accompanied by a wonderful amount of dining and wining, which should have kept all parties concerned in the best of humor with themselves and all the world. The Senate is to reassemble in Executive session on the 10th of May, when a treaty will probably be in readiness for its consideration.

TO BALTIMORE.

Feeling somewhat the worse for the incessant labors of the past two months, I resolved upon a change of air and scene for a day or two, and so availed myself of an opportunity of visiting the Monumental City. Baltimore is flourishing at this time "like a green bay tree," and is rapidly assuming a metropolitan greatness and dignity. Splendid buildings are in process of erection in all directions, and among them a new hotel with a front on Baltimore street, and an Opera House. Some of the older buildings are keeping pace with the march of improvement by donning mansard roofs and decking themselves with fresh paint. Painters are now busily engaged on Barnum's Hotel, and the Gilmer House now looms out snowy whiteness. The shops on Baltimore and Charles streets offer tempting displays of the choicest goods, while the former thoroughfare has its pavements at all times thronged with people and its roadway with passing vehicles. Indeed, this is the Baltimore Broadway.

THE BALTIMORE PRESS.

The Sun, Gazette, American and German Correspondent, Baltimore's leading dailies, are flourishing. A little evening paper published here gave up the ghost last week. The city is thus without an evening journal, and judging by the many unsuccessful attempts made to establish one, the field is not promising. The majority of the people there say that an evening paper is not needed; but there are others who differ from this opinion. A Mr. Cole threatens to bring out in the course of a week or two, a "red-hot" Democratic paper, to be called The Evening Democrat. Other parties are said to have issued a prospectus for the establishment of a first-class Democratic daily; and it is whispered that Mr. Abell, the wealthy proprietor of The Sun, intends starting his sons in business with an evening paper. If he does, it will be a permanent institution. It can hardly fail with Mr. Abell's millions to back it.

ART NOTES.

An exhibition of paintings by Baltimore artists closed yesterday. Ten artists contributing, the collection comprising nearly one hundred pictures, some of them being exceedingly good. Mr. John R. Key's paintings of California scenery were much admired, and his sunset in the Alleghaney Mountains claimed the attention of all visitors by its brilliant grandeur. Mr. Walker, a native of of South Carolina, but who has studied abroad, contributed two original pictures, small in size, but carefully finished. One is entitled "A Native of South Carolina," and represents a colored boy, of 1859, trudging across a plantation. He is clad in the coat of garments of his master, and presents a sorry figure. The other picture is entitled "One of the Attractions of the Sea-shore," representing a young lady seated upon a rock and indulging in a love-lone gaze over the broad expanse of ocean. Mr. H. Bolton Jones contributed some excellent pictures. He is, perhaps, the youngest artist in the United States, and is a graduate of the Maryland School of Design. Judging from his present advancement Mr. Jones is destined to occupy a prominent place among our native landscape painters. Mr. A. J. H. Way exhibited numerous pictures, large and small, the subjects being game, fish and fruit. Among them was the original of the popular charm, "A Christmas Memory." Last evening a number of these pictures were disposed of at auction, and the sale will be continued to-night. The prices realized were in most instances far below the value of the paintings, and the purchasers are to be congratulated on having made good investments.

THE BLOCK-MCKAIG TRIAL.

A trial for murder, in Frederick, which resulted in the acquittal of the accused, has been much discussed here of late. Some time last year Mr. H. C. Block, of Cumberland, shot and killed Mr. W. W. McKaig, of the same place. The alleged provocation was the seduction of Block's sister by McKaig, who was a married man. When the case came up for trial, however, all evidence in relation to the seduction was ruled out by the court, and the prisoner was acquitted on the ground that he acted in self-defense. This does not appear very clear in the published reports of the trial, though it must have been impressed upon the jury. Some persons assert that the Judge and jury were improperly influenced, and that the charge of seduction could not have been sustained, inasmuch as there were witnesses who could have put quite a different aspect on the affair, but whose evidence was excluded. Others consider the trial as a contest between aristocracy, as represented by the family of the deceased, and democracy, as exemplified in the prisoner; and rejoice at the triumph of the latter. Both Block and McKaig served in the Confederate army, the latter having especially distinguished himself for coolness and bravery.

MINOR TOPICS.

The Maryland Jockey Club will not hold a spring meeting, as reported.

Baltimore "swells" send to Philadelphia for their bouquets.

Herring Run Race Course has been purchased by the Maryland Trotting Association. The first trotting season will be held in May, and the full season in September.

John T. Ford, the popular manager, is building a new theater.

The fashionable amusement at present is gudgeon fishing. Parties of ladies and gentlemen visit the streams in the vicinity of this city daily to angle for the delicious panfish.

Baltimore's new club, the Ailston, has a list of three hundred members, and is flourishing. C. A. E.

THE Live Drug Store put on a new draught tube, yesterday, to their soda fount, and the delicious beverage flowed freely to the satisfaction of the thirsty ones.

OUR worthy friends of the Cartersville Express will please excuse us for dividing their honors. We thought that perhaps it might be too heavy for them to bear at once. They are both live editors and solid proprietors.

ONE of the best clothing stores in the city is that of Eiseman & Bro., on Whitehall street. Their stock is large and well selected. If you want anything in their line, call on the above firm.

B. L. DANN has moved his cigar store to No. 1 Railroad Block. Dann keeps a good stock of cigars, tobacco, snuff, pipes, etc. Pretty Poll also notifies her admirers that she is ready to entertain them.

THE lot occupied by Frank Queen and Bayles, Auctioneers, on Peachtree street, opposite Phillips & Crew's—belonging to the Powell estate—will be resold next Tuesday, sale day, to the highest bidder, by Wallace & Fowler. See advertisement.

AT the request of several contractors, and in order to give them ample time to make estimates, Judge Daniel Pittman, Ordinary, has extended the time for receiving proposals for the building of Fulton county jail until Saturday, the 13th of May.

The First Presbyterian and Central Presbyterian Sunday-schools picnic next week some time.

The first annual picnic of the Masons will be held at Norcross, on Tuesday, May 9th.

YESTERDAY morning, Miss Mary Nicolai, of Germany, arrived in this city from the Fatherland, and was soon after united in marriage, at the Kimball House, by Rev. J. H. Knowles, to Sergeant Christian Winkler, U. S. A. Sergeant Winkler left Germany twenty-three years ago, when quite young, and has not seen his ladylove during that period. They each remained faithful to their mutual vows, and their years of constancy have at last been rewarded.

PHILLIPS, FLANDERS & CO.—Our lady readers will find the letter of our Fashion Correspondent exceedingly interesting. For the various styles of dress goods and trimmings mentioned, call at the fashion bazaar of Phillips, Flanders & Co. They have a large stock of beautiful goods, which they are offering low. Their parasols are the "ne plus ultra" of fashion, and their kid gloves at 75 cents per pair are all the rage. Nuff ced.

PICNIC EXCURSION TO NORCROSS, TUESDAY, MAY 2.—Prof. Wm. F. Clark's Marietta Silver Cornet Band will accompany the excursionists.

The First Baptist Sunday School's annual picnic will take place Tuesday, 24 May, leaving the city at 7 A. M., and returning at 5 P. M. The beautiful grove at Norcross, recently put in order for the approaching masonic picnic, has been tendered for the occasion. A delightful time is anticipated. Fare for the round trip 25 and 50 cents. A train of six or eight passenger coaches will be furnished.

COLONEL MARK A. HARDIN has one of the finest saw mills in the South, located on the Cherokee Railroad, near the town of Taylorsville, 15 miles from Cartersville. It has capacity to cut 20,000 feet of lumber per day. The pine timber is the best known for the manufacture of sash, blinds and doors. We learn that Colonel Hardin contemplates building a tram way from his mill to the railroad for the purpose of the speedy delivery of lumber. He is now shipping large quantities to thisplace, and the demand for it is quite lively.

THE May number of the Rural Southerner is out, filled with a rich variety of matter. Hon. John C. Ragsdale, of DeKalb county, makes a very plausible defense of King Cotton. A. C. Cook, of Covington, gives a timely article entitled, "A Plea for the Birds." J. Steele, of Cobb county, has something to say on "The Fox and Dog Question." He says hounds are good to find eggs, but they never bring in any that they find. Philip L. Hampton, of DeKalb county, contributes a well written article on commercial fertilizers and cotton. S. A. Echols, of Atlanta, is editor and proprietor. Terms only one dollar per annum.

A DELEGATION of the Oglethorpe Fire Company, of Savannah, arrived last night, and were received by Mechanic Fire Company No. 2. Captain Harry Jackson made the reception speech, which was done in his usual handsome manner. It was responded to on the part of the Oglethorpes by Mr. Russell, in an equally handsome style. Three cheers were then given, and the crowd marched off to Mechanic engine house. At this place was a table laded with provisions and drinkables. Over the table, in large letters, was the inscription, Welcome, are we not Brothers? The Oglethorpes were soon made to feel at home. Toasts were drank, and the night made joyous until a late hour. On Monday, at 4 o'clock, the Mechanics give a dinner at the Kimball House. Atlanta welcomes Savannah.

SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA—Evening Session—April 29, 1871.—Argument No. 4, Brunswick Circuit, was concluded.

Peabody & Brannon, for defendants.

The court adjourned till Tuesday next at 10 o'clock A. M.

Monday is consultation day as usual.

OUR esteemed friend, Dr. S. H. Stout, leaves in a few days to attend the Educational Convention at Columbus. Our Columbus friends will find him a polished and agreeable gentleman and we commend him to their kind attentions.

TALLULAH'S NEW STEAMER. — Tallulah tried her new steamer yesterday evening, first in front of the State House. She threw a stream, through 200 feet of hose, 1⅛ inch nozzle, 240 feet, and with 1⅜ inch nozzle, 263 feet, 8 inches. She was then moved down to the cistern at the corner of Loyd and Alabama streets. Here she first played two streams through 100 feet of hose each and ⅞ inch nozzle, 177 feet 2 inches. She then played a single stream through 500 feet of hose, with 1⅛ inch nozzle, 185 feet 2 inches; and through 1,000 feet of hose, same nozzle, 194 feet. She works steadily, smoothly and rapidly.

The steamer is a third class rotary, manufactured by the Silsby Company at Seneca Falls, New York. It is very highly finished in every respect, and we believe one of the handsomest machines in the South. We hope that Tallulah will not give up their hand engine, but use both when emergencies demand it.

SHARP & FLOYD.—The jewelry establishment of the above enterprising firm is well worth a visit. Their stock of diamonds embraces gems from $25 up to $3,500. They sold one yesterday at $3,000. The display of gold watches embraces the finest made in Europe and America—exquisite gems of workmanship. The most fastidious tastes of ladies and gentlemen can here find something to satisfy them. In chains of elegant patterns and chaste designs, pearl and coral sets, bracelets, necklaces, rings and jewelry of all kinds, they offer a large and magnificent line of goods. The solid sterling silver to be found at their establishment can not be excelled in any market. The ladies will find here elegant work boxes and beautiful pearl-handled fans. Messrs Sharp & Floyd have dyes for the making of medals for fairs and expositions, and badges for Sunday-schools. They furnished the premiums for the last State Fair, and the fair at Rome. They are now prepared to manufacture watches entire, having secured the services of a skilled workman who has but few superiors in this art. Go to the Live Jewelry Store.

EASTMAN'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—This morning we publish an extensive advertisement of this institution, which is just about being established in this city. Every man knows the necessity of a practical business education—in fact, there is too much education in the country that leaves the student at the end of the course totally unfit for the active duties and business labors of life. But a graduate from such an institution as Eastman's Business College can step from the doors of the college into active employment, into the counting house and especially in all the departments of commercial business.

It is not necessary to call attention to the pecuniary advantages to Atlanta, flowing from the establishment of a first-class institution of learning in our midst. These advantages were thoroughly canvassed in the case of Oglethorpe University, now in successful operation in our city, and sending new life and force through all the avenues of our prosperity. The students who come here to attend these colleges must necessarily spend considerable sums of money, and many will doubtless become citizens, thus swelling our poplation. For these reasons our people should feel greatly gratified at the establishment of Eastman's Business College.

Students should be attracted to Atlanta from the entire South. And why? First, because they can here avail themselves of the very best educational facilities, both of a literary and business character, for we have a literary institution, Oglethorpe, not inferior to any in the South. Students can here obtain a first-class literary and business education. In the second place, they reap the benefits of actual contact with Atlanta life, energy and enterprise, and of association with her far-famed business men. And the value of these advantages can scarcely be over estimated. In the third place, it is well known that Atlanta is the healthiest of Southern cities, possessing the purest of air and water.

We have no hesitency in recommending Prof. Eastman and his college—no man could after reading the certificates to his character and ability in another column. Read them, and come to Atlanta, ye that are in search of firstclass business in education. We do not believe that in the United States a better can be had.

HARRISON VS. MCAFEE.—Mr. Local: The article signed "Citizen," of yesterday morning, is calculated to make impressions detrimental to the character of a christian gentleman of high standing, hence this article. The facts are briefly these: McAfee was the owner of a rock quarry in the suburbs of the city, and while it was in full blast, and many years after it had been in operation, Harrison, the complainant, bought a lot within 300 feet of it, for $450, in 1867. He lived on said lot until the latter part of the summer, 1870 said quarry being in full blast all the time, without making complaint. He was discharged from the Western and Atlantic Railroad about this time, and went to Selma, in Alabama, to get employment, which he did. His wife, in October, thereafter filed her bill for injunction alleging that the operation of said quarry endangered the lives of her family and the property on the premises, etc. This bill was answered and heard in January, 1871, and an injunction granted, restraining McAfee from using his quarry so as to throw rocks on or over the defendant's premises. Complaint was made by affidavit, alleging that the injunction had been violated, and a handfull of stones, some of them larger than the palm a man's hand, was brought into court to exemplify the facts contained in the affidavit. No injury was alleged to have been done, or even any risk run in the falling of the stones, and in fact none could have been done with the stones exhibited, neither was it insisted that injury could have ensued by the falling of said stones.

McAfee filed his answer under oath, and supported it by proof that he had used every possible precaution to prevent injury or annoyance to said complainant; that he had repeatedly charged his blaster and hands not to run any risk; to put in the smallest amount of powder possible to answer the purpose; to turn the drills in the contrary direction from the complainant's house, and pack the holes carefully, and see that no injury or annoyance should be done—all of which was strictly obeyed and carried out.

The hands proved, in addition, that at every blast they went out on the hill near, and in full view of complainant's house, and that no stone had ever passed in the direction of the house large enough to be seen or heard fall.

McAfee disclaimed all intention to violate said injunction, and shows that he had used every effort in his power to prevent it. Under this statement of facts, the Court fined him one hundred dollars and cost. "The damage imposed for the violation of an injunction, in the absence of a contempt, is simply the amount of injury done by the violation." In this case, none was claimed. In addition, it had been proven that when complainant had lost his job, and was going to leave the State, he had offered to sell his place to McAfee, who was unable to buy, and shortly after he left that his wife had made her boast that she intended to force McAfee to buy them out. "This was on the first trial," shortly after which threat the bill was filed. Under all the circumstances of the case, could not the law have been appeased without imprisonment, and was it necessary to incarcerate a man of unexceptionable Christian character, to make an example, when offenders are so numerous? Would it not be better to imprison men for keeping gaming houses, to the ruin of the youths of the city and country, and let Christian men go at large. McAfee was reduced to the dire necessity, with a large number of buildings on his hands, several teams of mules to be fed, jobs of work under contract to be completed, to stop all at an expense of $30 or $40 per diem upon the foregoing statement of facts, and being placed at the mercy of people without the power on his part to protect himself, who could bring up at every blast that he might make a handfull of rocks and an affidavit, and have him incarcerated under charges which he had no earthly power to contradict, or pay all that the avarice of the complainant demanded for the property—$1,750—which he did and which was more than had ever been demanded. The law ought to be made a terror to evil-doers, but not to law-abiding and order-loving men who do good and set a good example. And if the incarceration of McAfee was law, then there is great need for legislation in Georgia. But McAfee was working a quarry, which was nearly all he possessed, and the property was worth but little for any other purpose. He worked it under the advice of his counsel, and although interviews were had between himself and complainant's wife, no complaint was made until a rule was granted calling on him to show cause why he should not be attached, etc.

This decision may be the law, but as it is, we cannot comprehend it, we do not see how it can be law, the judicial decisions can be so made as to work such intolerable hardships. If this is in accordance with law, then the law is wrong. Persons have lived all the time midway between Harrison's house and the quarry, and have never been injured or property damaged.

"SURE POP."—What is "Sure Pop?" It is certain death to rats, mice, roaches and bugs. It is put up in sealed tin boxes, and retains its freshness and strength until it is used, when it is distributed according to directions about any premises it will unfailingly attract to it all the rats thereabouts. They eat it and enjoy it, and after feasting to satisfaction they evidently come to a realizing sense that they are mortal and that their time to die has come; under this conviction they invariably quit their old haunts and hastily seek a resting and a dying place as far from home as they are able to go. Prof. Isaacsen, the inventor of this celebrated rat killer, was in town. Give it a trial all of you who wish to rid your houses of rats, and as sure as you do you will be more than satisfied and gratified, you will pronounce the Professor a public benefactor as he is "Sure Pop." apr30-deod1w

PREVENTIVE MEDICATION.—A radical change has been introduced in the practice of medicine. Physicians have ceased to torture and prostrate their patients. Instead of pulling down, they build up; instead of assaulting nature, they assist her. Cupping, leeching, blistering, venesection, calomel, antimony, stupifying narcotics, and rasping purgatives, once the favorite resources of the faculty, and now rarely resorted to even by the most dogmatic members of the profession. The old creed was that disease was something which must be expelled by violent artificial means, irrespective of the wear and tear of the vital organization in the process. The new creed recognizes the improvement of the general health as essential to the cure of all local ailments. Hence it is that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most potent vegetable tonic that pharmacy has ever brought to the assistance of nature in her struggles with disease, has been cordially approved by practitioners of the moderm school. It is pleasant to reflect that reason and philosophy have at last been victorious over the errors of the past, and that thousands, and ten of thousands, of human beings are alive and well to day who would indubitably be moldering in their graves, had they been subjected to the pains and penalties which were deemed orthodox and indispensable thirty or forty years ago.

Preventative medication was scarcely thought of then; but now it is considered of paramount importance, and the celebrity of the standard invigorant, alterative and restorative of the age, (a title which Hostetter's Bitters have fairly earned by their long career of success,) is mainly due to its efficiency as a protective preparation.

A course of the Bitters is urgently recommended as a safe and certain antidote to intermittent and remittent fevers, diarrhœa, dysentery and other maladies.

BETWEEN THE EBB AND FLOW.

The evening breeze is singing low
A lullaby to-day,
I have a question I would ask
Before it dies away.
The pebbles on the beach are dry,
The tide has sunken low;
A little form is standing there
Between the ebb and flow.

A tangled mass of soft brown hair,
Two eyes cast meekly down,
A little face the sun has kissed,
Two cheeks a little brown;
Two little lips that pout and says,
"I do not think I know."
Two little lips that tell a fib,
Between the ebb and flow.

A little heart that longing waits
To know what next 'twill hear,
A little face that shyly looks
To see if still I'm near.
Ah! little heart that whispered "Yes,"
Though pouting lips said "No,"
You thought that you'd be asked again,
Between the ebb and flow.

A little face half-frightened, when
I turn to go away,
Two little hands that slyly reach
As if to bid me stay;
A little voice that softly says,
I did not mean that "No;"
A little pride that well was lost,
Between the ebb and flow.

Vandalism.

THE DESTRUCTION OF ONE OF FRANCE'S GRANDEST MONUMENTS.

The famous Arc de Triomphe de l'Etoile in Paris, which is reported destroyed by the guns of Mont Valerien, is situated upon the grand avenue of the Champs Elysees. The foundation stone was laid on August 15, 1806, the anniversary of the birth of Napoleon I. It was not completed, however, until 1836, in which year it was inaugurated. The total cost was about 9,651,185 francs, about equally divided between the Empire, the restoration, and the reign of Louis Philippe. The work of building it was thus carried on under three different dynasties.

At its completion it was dedicated to "the glories of all the armies of France since 1792." The height of the arch was 152 feet, its breadth 137 feet, and its depth 68 feet. The foundations were 168 feet long and 84 feet wide. The arch was adorned with groups of statuary representing the military glories of France. Under its giant arches corteges of all kinds and distinguished people without number have passed. The first to pass under it, while it was still merely a skeleton, was Marie Louise of Austria, when she came to Paris as wife of Napoleon. If it be true that it has been destroyed, as reported, Paris has lost one of its greatest and most celebrated adornments.

Sumner and Wife.

SENATORIAL INFELICITIES—MARRIED AND MARRED—A NICE BIT OF GOSSIP.

Any reference to Senator Sumner's domestic affairs creates what the reporters call a sensation. He lives alone in a very handsome style in a house that was fitted up for Mrs. Sumner, who prefers a residence in Boston. She was a gay, fashionable widow, of rare beauty and accomplishments, when the Senator was weak enough to woo and wed her. He was about the last man to marry, or if marrying, she was about the last woman to select. Like all eminent men, Senator Sumner has more egotism than intellect. Unless a man believes in himself, he cannot make others believe in him. And such was Sumner's creed, in the worship of Sumner, that he wanted a wife who would sit at his feet while he was at home, and pour out unceasing praise, and during his absence read his speeches in the Globe, or those heavy volumes called his "Works."

Mrs. Sumner, however had other notions connected with domestic bliss. She married the Senator—the distinguished Senator—of Massachusetts, and proposed to enjoy the advantages, in a social way, her position gave her.

Balls, parties, receptions, suppers, dinners, and hops were her entertainments, and the works of the statesman were nauseating to her. Instead of pouring over musty tomes and heavy State papers, and preparing from them tremendous speeches and reports, the Senator found himself dragged to entertainments that he despised, and all his valuable time frittered away. Domestic incompatibility began to manifest itself.

"I was wedded to my books before I married you," said the Senator, grandly and gloomily, when his wife asked if these entertainments were disagreable, why he sought her hand.

Such like scenes as the following were common, and repeated by social gossips with gusto:

Sumner and wife at a party—time, past midnight. Mrs. S. whirling through round dances, excited and merry—the Senator grand, gloomy and bored.

Sumner (loquitor)—Mrs. Sumner, your carriage waits.

Mrs. Sumner—Well, Senator, let it wait.

Sumner—But, Madame, I wish to go home.

Mrs. Sumner—Well, Senator Sumner, you have my full permission. Do, pray, go home—you look weary and exhausted. By all means go home.

Probably the Senator would have accepted this advice, given on this and other occasions, and returning to his studies, left the charming wife to the gaieties of the season, but that a handsome diplomat readily took his place and became her companion. This became so marked at last, that the gossips took up the fact of the intimacy, and the saloons—not lager beer, but social—rung with the talk.

Senator Sumner was not only Chairman of the Committe on Foreign Affairs in the Senate, but he was intimate friend of the Secretary of State, and one fine day the handsome diplomat was suddenly recalled. Whether Mr. Sumner had anything to do with this event or not, Mrs. Sumner, it is said, so believed. But whether even this is sure, it is known that she was enraged and mortified by the report. She left Washington for Europe. Her brother reached the steamer in time to prevent a scandal, by sailing with her. And when she returned, it was with the positive determination not to resume her place as Mrs. Sumner in Washington city, and she has since lived up to this, leaving the eloquent statesman to occupy his handsome residence alone.

READ! READ! READ!!! Health, beauty and happiness restored to modern womanhood, by using Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator or Woman's Best Friend.

☞ Sold by every Druggist in Charlotte, N. C., and by Druggists generally. ☜

We were kindly furnished the following extract from a letter to Dr. F. Scarr, Druggist, of this city:

STANLEY COUNTY, N. C.

Dr. F. Scarr—DEAR SIR: When in your town I asked you for something for my wife. You sold me a bottle of Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator, or Woman's Best Friend. Please put me up one dozen bottles of the same, as the one I got from you has got my wife finely well. You would not know her now; she has got stout and healthy and as red as a rose. As others are needing it please send me one dozen bottles. ***

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 23, 1871.

Dr. J. H. Bradfield—DEAR SIR: We cheerfully bear testimony to the efficacy and popularity of Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator. Among a number of cases it has benefitted in this community, we mention that of a married lady. She was a sufferer from womb disease; had excessive and disagreeable flow of whites; was weak and languid. She was induced to try the Regulator, and after taking the second bottle she is sound and well. Her health and elasticity of spirits have returned, and she has gained many pounds in weight; feels altogether like a new being. Yours very respectfully,

NATURE'S GREAT RESTORER!

SCHEETZ'S

CELEBRATED

BITTER CORDIAL!

WHOLESALE DEPOT,

Northwest Cor. Fifth and Race Streets, Philadelphia.

JACOB SCHEETZ Sole Prop'r

IT is a reliable Family Medicine, and can be taken by either infant or adult with the same beneficial results. It is a certain, prompt, and speedy remedy for Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Bowel Complaint, Dyspepsia, Lowness of Spirits, Faintings, Sick Stomach, Headache, etc. For Chills and Fevers of all kinds, it is far better and safer than quinine, without any of its pernicious effects. It creates an appetite, proves a powerful digester of food, and will counteract the effects of liquor in a few minutes. As an indisputable evidence of its medical proprieties, we append a few of the many certificates in our possession.

CUMBERLAND IRON WORKS, TENN.,
October 12th, 1869.

Jacob Scheetz, M. D.—Dear Sir: This is to certify that I have been having the chills for the last twelve months. I tried all medicines recommended to me for the disease, without receiving any benefit. Having heard Scheetz's Bitters highly spoken of, I procured a bottle, and finding some relief, I continued it until I am happy to say that I am completely well. I not only consider the Bitters a sovereign remedy for chills, but I believe, it a preventive, and cheerfully recommend it to the afflicted.

Yours very truly, MOLLIE HART.

PHILADELPHIA, February 17th, 1868.

Dear Sir: This is to certify that I have been intimately acquainted with Scheetz's Celebrated Bitter Cordial for the past four years, and have seen its effects in Dyspepsia, Nervous Diseases, Rheumatism, and all the various forms of general debility tending to decline, and from my knowledge of said bitters, I have no hesitation in pronouncing them the best general remedy for the above diseases that is known. You may use this in any way you desire.

WM. CLARK, M. D.,
No. 816 Market St., and N. E. Cor. 6th and Callowhill.

Mr. Jacob Scheetz—Dear Sir: It affords me much pleasure to infrom you that after suffering for fifteen months with Chills and Fever, I was induced to use your justly celebrated Bitter Cordial, which effected a permanent cure, only used one half pint last August, and had not a chill since. You are at liberty to use this as you please.

THE CAROLINA FERTILIZER!

IS MADE FROM THE

PHOSPHATES OF SOUTH CAROLINA,

AND is pronounced by various Chemists, one of the best MANURES known. It was extensively used in most of the Cotton-growing States last season, and in a great number of trials, in comparison with other leading Fertilizers, proved superior to every other.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA PHOSPHATES

Are remains of extinct land and sea animals, and possess qualities of the greatest value to the Agriculturist. Pamphlets containing description of this

REMARKABLE DEPOSIT,

With engravings of Fossils found in it, and testimonials proving the superiority of the Fertilizer, will be forwarded on application.

Extract from article in Rural Carolinian, February number, 1871, giving details of experiments with fifteen different Fertilizers:

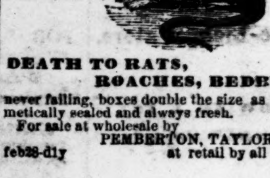

"From the above experiments and their results, I almost reach some conclusions which may prove of interest to others.

"First—That Peruvian Guano, which has been considered the standard for comparison for all commercial Fertilizers, fails to produce as much cotton as a Fertilizer claiming to contain no ammonia at all.

"Second—That neither the Peruvian nor the unmixed Super-Phosphates produces so well as a combination of the two, or as a commercial Fertilizer containing both super-phosphate and ammonia, like the Carolina Fertiliser, which has produced better results for me than any other commercial Fertilizer."

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 1.—I feel that we have now an article of gin suitable for such cases as that remedy is adapted to. DR. J. W. BRIGHT.

"Schnapps" is a remedy in chronic catarrhal complaints, etc.

I take great pleasure in bearing highly creditable testimony to its efficacy as a remedial agent in the diseases for which you recommend it. Having a natural tendency to the mucous surfaces, with a slight degree of stimulation, I regard it as one of the most important remedies in chronic catarrhal affections, particularly those of the genito-urinary apparatus. With much respect, your obedient servant,
CAMS. A. LEAS, M. D., New York.

26 PINE STREET, NEW YORK, Nov. 21, 1867—Udolpho Wolfe, Esq., Present: Dear Sir—I have made a chemical examination of a sample of your "Schiedam Schnapps," with the intent of determining if any foreign or injurious substance had been added to the simple distilled spirits.

The examination has resulted in the conclusion that the sample contained no poisonous or harmful admixture. I have been unable to discover any trace of the deleterious substances which are sometimes employed in the adulteration of liquors. I would not hesitate to use myself, nor to recommend to others, for medical purposes, the "Schiedam Schnapps" as an excellent and unobjectionable variety of gin. Very respectfully yours,

CHEMICAL AND TECHNICAL LABORATORY, 18 EXCHANGE PLACE, New York, Nov. 25, 1867.—Udolpho Wolfe, Esq.: Dear Sir—The undersigned have carefully and thoroughly analyzed a sample of your "Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps," selected by ourselves, and have found the same free from all organic or inorganic substances, more or less injurious to health. From the result of our examination, we consider the article one of superior quality, healthful as a beverage, and effectual in its medicinal qualities.

The Great Medical Discovery.

THE ALLEVIATOR OF ALL PHYSICAL PAIN.

BRANCH & QUIN'S LINIMENT, besides being the best and perhaps the only, remedy for that excruciating disease, the Rheumatism, has been proved capable of curing neuralgia, pneumonia, diptheria, sore throat, toothache, earache, headache, and, in fact, all the pains and aches that flesh is heir to.

Though only known to the public for about the space of twelve months, this unrivaled medicine has nevertheless already attained a wide notoriety—hundreds restored to health by its wonderful power, now testify to its many virtues, and the proprietors are constantly receiving applications for it from almost every quarter.

Branch & Quin's Liniment is no Yankee swindle. Its proprietors are Southern men. All they ask is a trial in order to convince any one, even the most obstinate and prejudiced of its merit, and they are prepared to guarantee it to be as represented.
